HERRINGBONE · REF CF453

Smoked Herringbone Oak

Smoked Herringbone Oak has the deeper, slightly cooler brown that smoking gives oak, with natural variation from block to block. The brushed and oiled surface keeps that variation visible and gives a soft, matt look.

It sits between natural and dark oak — rich enough to feel considered, light enough not to dominate. In 90 × 450mm blocks it works especially well in hallways, living rooms and through connected ground floors.

Notes

Items marked available on request are not yet confirmed for this product and are deliberately left blank — please contact us to confirm installation method, underfloor heating limits, pack coverage and certification before specifying or installing. Natural oak varies in colour and grain between boards and batches; photographs are representative, so always approve a physical sample before ordering.
